Sharing Honors After 0-to-0 Tie Cadets' Streak Ends At 25 Games Before Crowd of 78,000

Irish and Army

By Francis E. Stann

NEW YORK, Nov. 9. - After nearly three years of uninterrupted success, Army's winning streak came to a dramatic end at 25 straight victories today in Yankee Stadium when the Irish of Notre Dame battled the Black Knights to a 0-0 stalemate before

Billed as the football game of the century, it was an epic struggle, but it did little toward settling the mythical national championship except possibly to emphasize the fitness of Army and Notre Dame to be co-holders of the title.

The Irish, rated deeper in manpower, rolled up 35 more yards than Army and once pounded toward a touchdown on the West Pointer's 4-yard line. On the other hand, Army on five occasions was inside Notre Dame's 35-yard line and was more adept at capitalizing on enemy mistakes. Yet neither team could score and at the finish they were a pair of exhausted elevens, both seemingly willing to settle for a tie.

Foes Evenly Matched.

So tense was the struggle and so evenly matched were the foes that heither coach, Earle Blaik of Army nor Frank Leahy of the Irish, was willing to gamble on the outcome by yanking his biggest stars. As a result Quarterback Johnny Lujack played the full 60 minutes for Notre Administrator Robert M.
